The Pastille team presented the outputs of the project. Jiří Špička, the local coordinator of the project, described the methodology, philosophy and goals of the projects and the typology of intellectual outputs. Eva Skříčková presented her Didactic Unit for beginners and her ideas how to use this Unit in language courses. Stefania Elisa Ghezzi did the same for her Didactic Unit for advanced students. Fabrizio Ruggeri showed digital application that can help the teachers to make the use of the Didactic Units more attractive for young digital born audience. Alicja Paleta talked about specific uses and learning strategies of spoken and written Italian. Mara Salvalaggio presented a project of shadowing for Italian mother tongue students and students of Italian as foreign language that could support the autonomous learning using Pastille Didactic Units. Paolo Tabacchini moderated a round table about today's challenges of teaching Italian. At the end of the day, some participants took part in a guided walk with the historian Tomáš Parma in the town centre following the traces of Italian history and art.

Project Number: 2019-1-PL01-KA203-065078

The conclusion achieved

During the Multiplier Event, the Pastille project and its selected concrete outputs were presented to a wide audience. The project members showed the participants how to work with the Intellectual Outputs of the project, especially the Didactic Units. Guests from other universities followed up with other topics that can contribute to a more effective use of the project results. The event was not only an excellent promotion of the project and instruction on how to use its outputs, but also a general promotion of the teaching of Italian as a foreign language, and therefore of the support of the project target group (teachers and students of Italian).
